

How do you want to be remembered?

What you say in your will or other estate plans attests to what was meaningful to you during your lifetime. Through your advance planning, you have the opportunity to leave such a legacy as a role model to your children, grandchildren and others.

A legacy gift through a bequest in your will or other planned gift is a way to offer thanks to God for the gifts and blessings given to you, to affirm the value you attach to your faith community, and to provide for Church of the Atonement’s future mission, ministries, or facilities through the parish endowment fund.

When you indicate your intention to include Church of the Atonement in your estate plan, you become a member of the Atonement Legacy Society; you will be continuing your stewardship of Church of the Atonement and helping to assure the long-term financial health of the parish.

Legacy gifts can be technical and each person’s circumstances are different. It is best to consult with your own financial advisor and legal counsel to determine the appropriate form of gift for you.
